Here is the image of the simple web browser

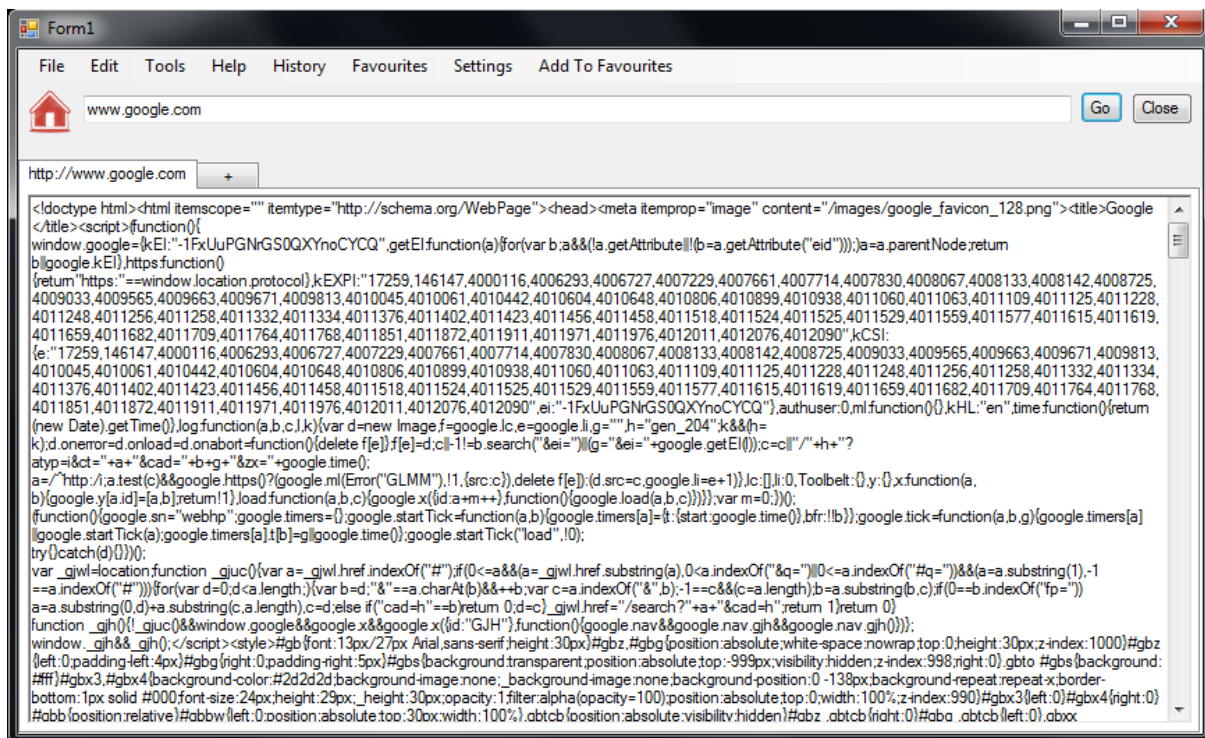

Use the following instructions to use the web browser

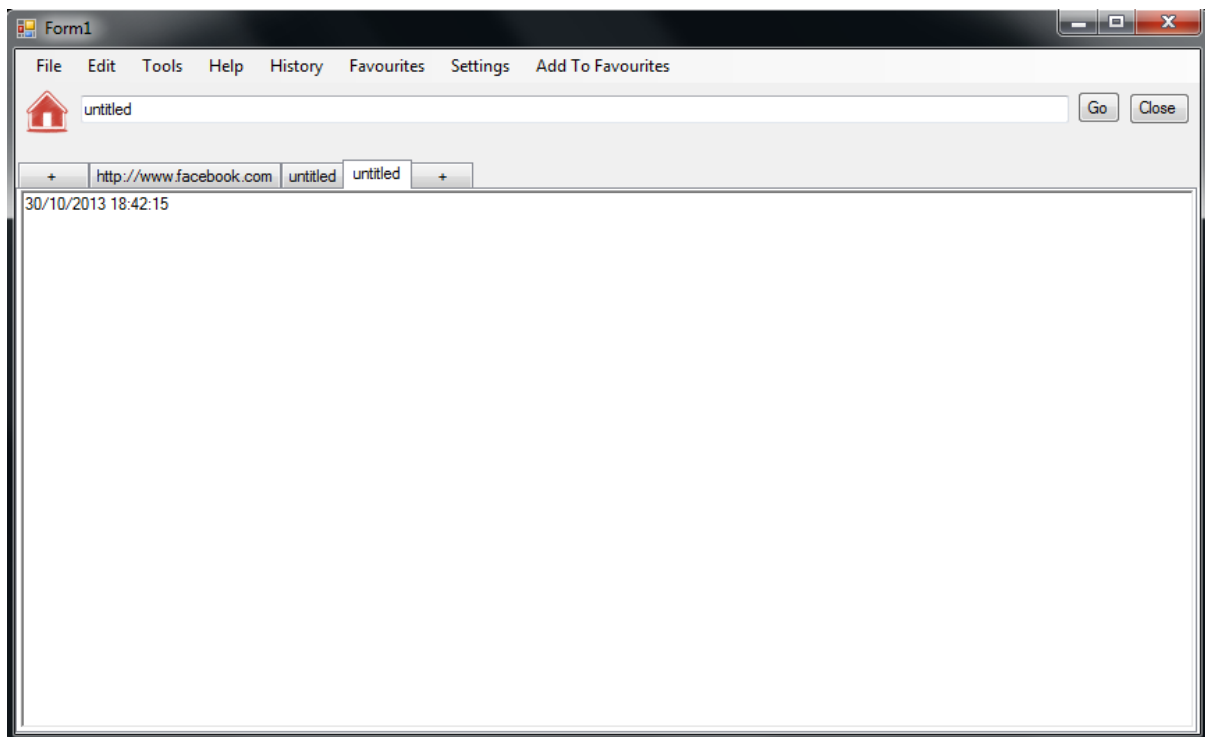

1. Type the URL into the browser's bar.

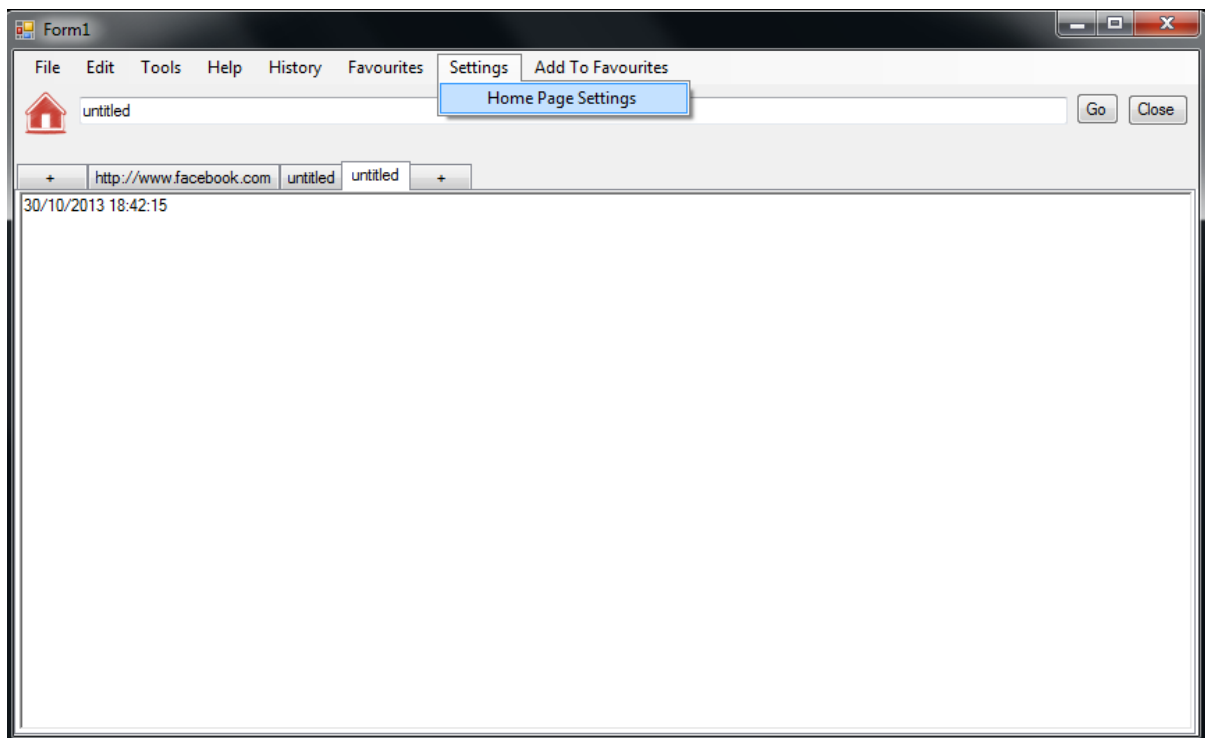

2. You can press enter or click on go to view the raw html.

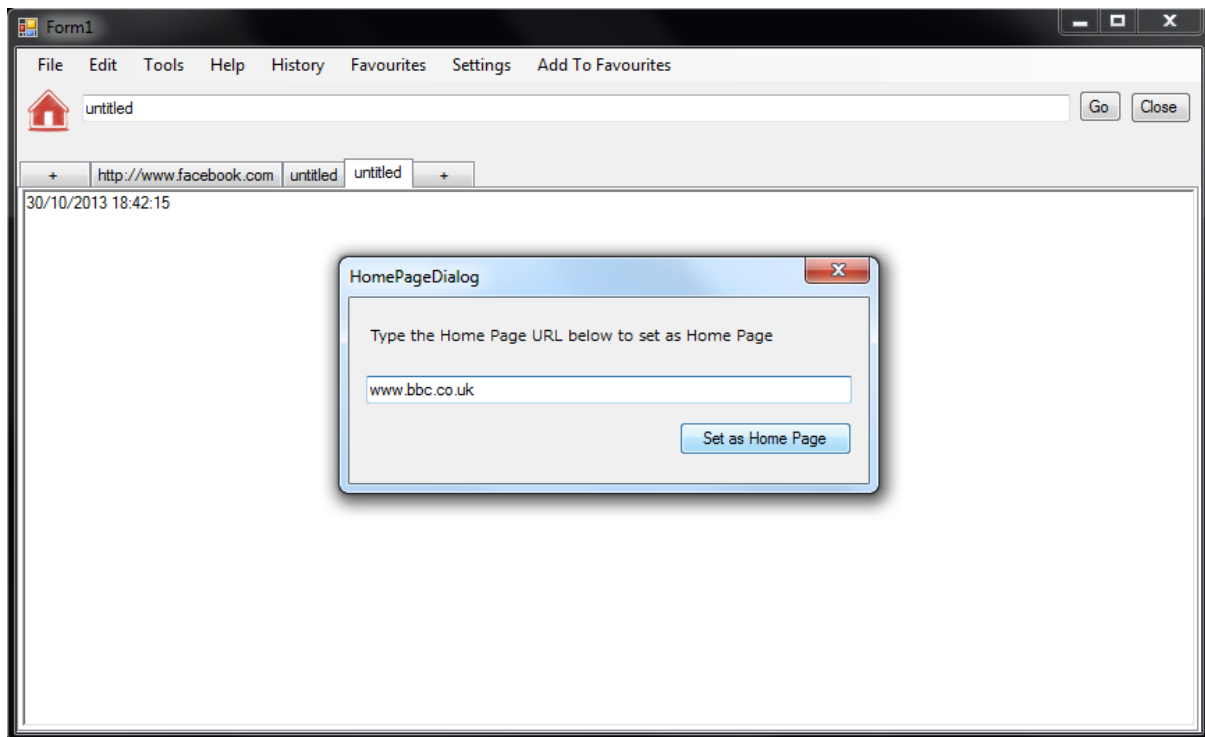

3. To open a new tab click on the second tab with the '+'. You can open multiple tabs this way but you cannot open a new tab by clicking on the first tab.

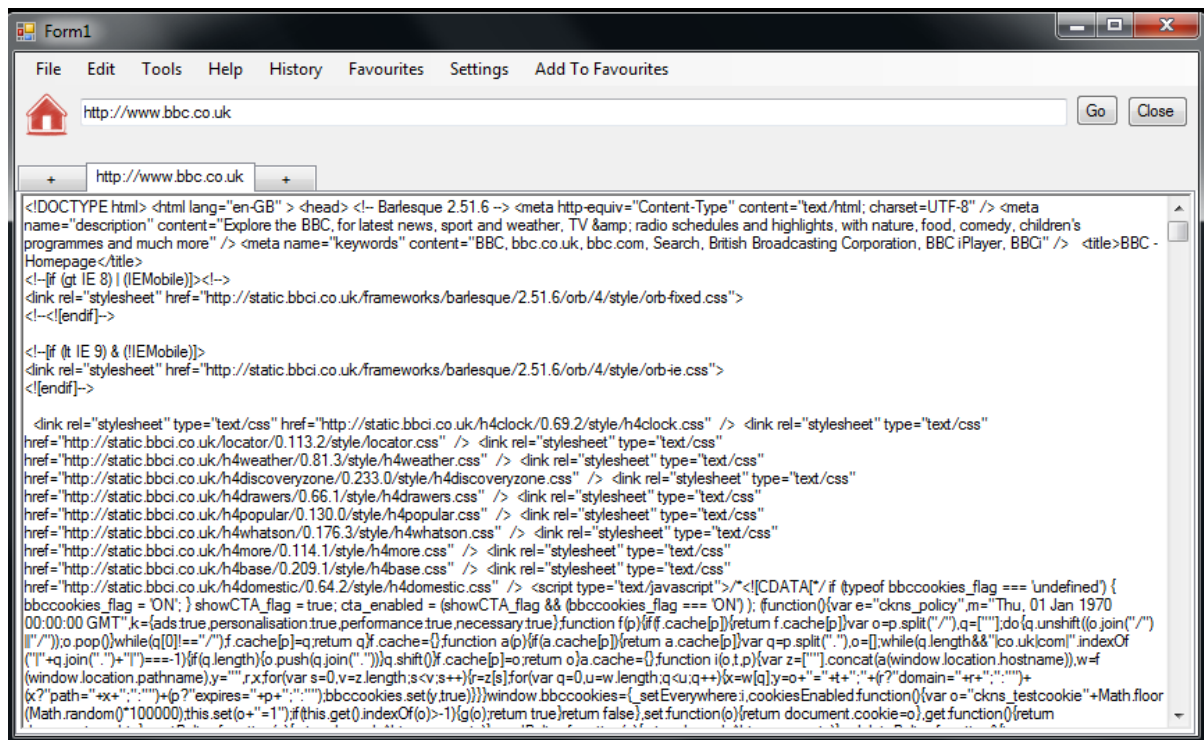

4. If you want to set a home page click on Settings→Home Page Settings

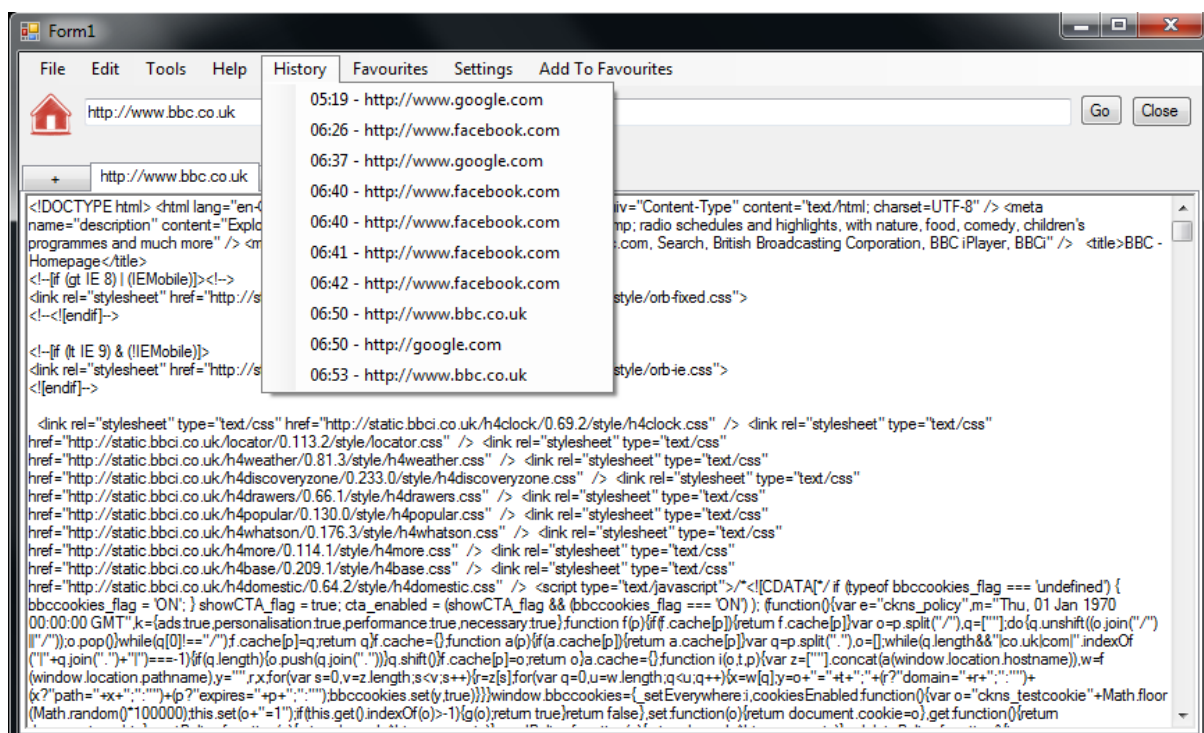

5. Type the URL of the home page you want to set in the text box and click on Set as Home Page. If you want to change your home page, you can click on Settings→Home Page Settings again to change your home page.

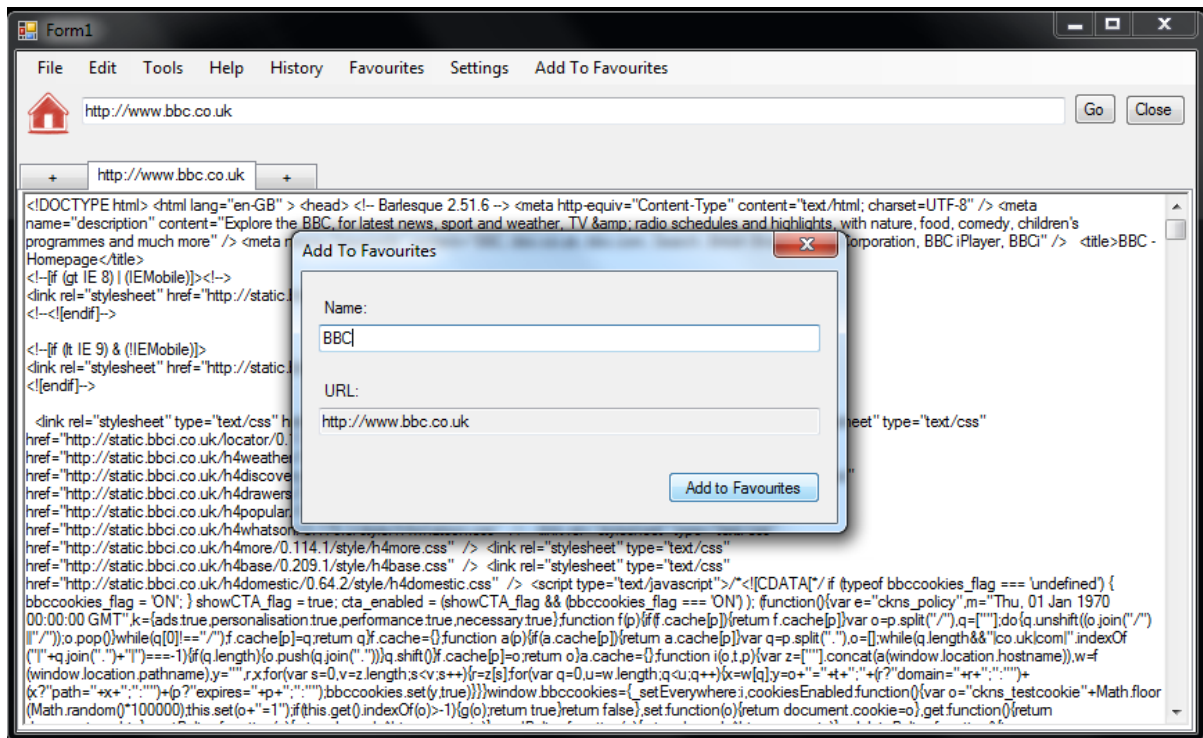

6. You can check if your home page is set by closing the browser and opening it again as the home page always loads on the second tab automatically

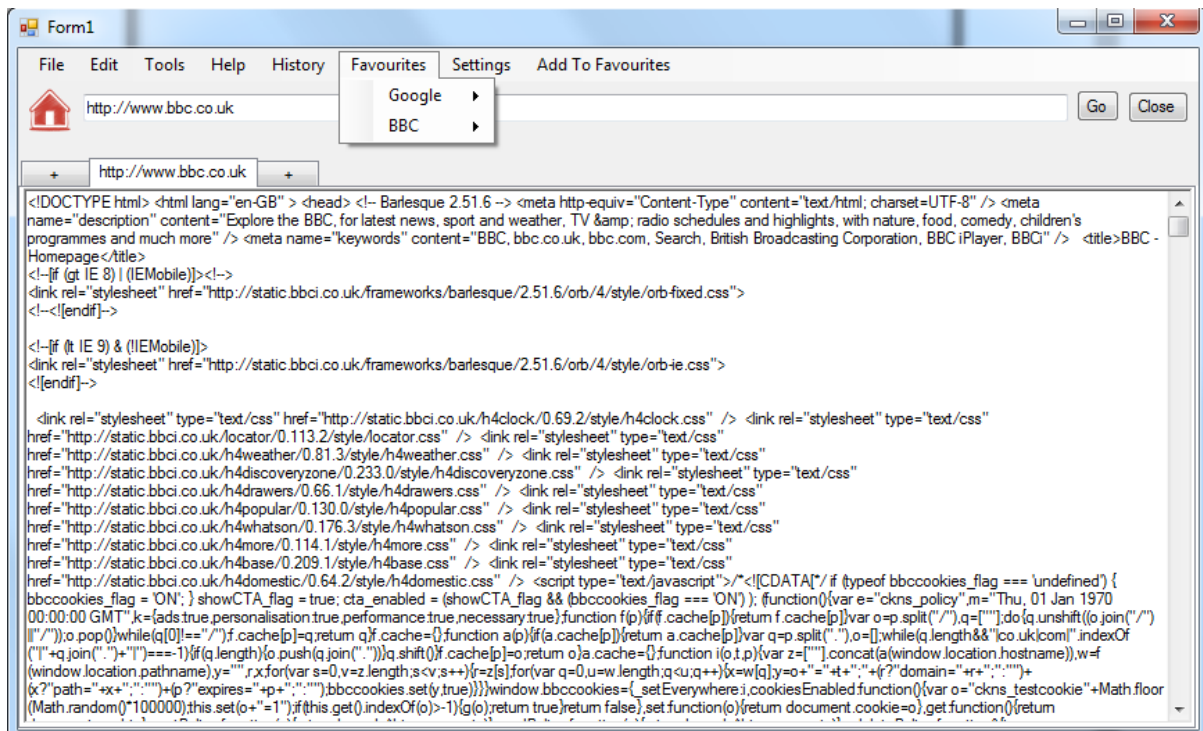

7. You can also check the history of the pages you have selected and navigate to any of them by clicking on the links shown in the History menu in the toolbar

8. To add bbc.co.uk as a favourite click on Add To Favourites in the toolbar and click on Add to Favourites again in the dialog box.

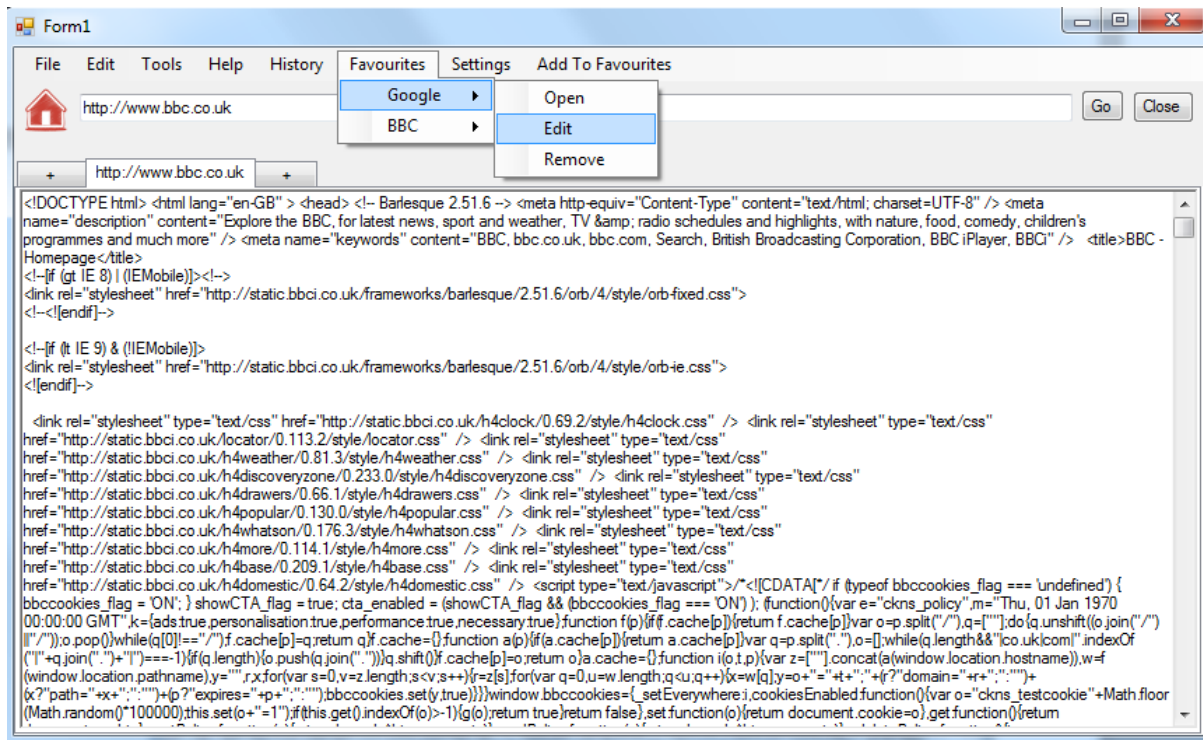

9. You can view your favourites in the Favourites menu in the toolbar

10. Click on any one of the links to open a further menu of open, edit or remove.

If you want to open the favourite link click on open, if you want to remove it click on remove and if you want to edit the favourites link click on edit

11. You can also close any current tab you have opened by clicking on Close
